My dearest,

Greetings again and all my love.
I could fairly hug you both to death if I saw you - right now. Please hurry those new photographs when you get them.

I just read an article in April's Mercury which you might be interested in. It's about the danger of smothering babies.

According to their investigation, small babies are the largest number of victims, pillows are dangerous, the early morning hours just after feeding are dangerous, and sleeping on the stomach is often dangerous for small children 1-6 months. I'm not trying to scare you or anything, it is just a clear and common sense article. You ought to read it.

How is Johnny? He ought to be walking now. And is the old wooden cart holding out OK? Darling, I love you and Johnny so

That all I do is spend my time thinking of what we shall do after the war. Johnny will have some real Springers then! Then, of course, we'll start working on your long list of needed purchases washing machine etc.
Whenever you can buy a bond monthly. As soon as I see how much money I shall need, I'll do likewise.

Here's a little request I'd like to make of you. Please tell me what's happening with your folks. Don't cover up unpleasant things.
I want to hear them. I'd worry more if everything sounded too serene.

Give that darling of mine a kiss - and a real big one for you. Give my best to all the Davis's.

Dearest Love,

Jack
